

The diagram illustrates a complex multi-layer PCB layout. It features a central rectangular area with a smaller rectangle inside it, surrounded by various lines, pads, and vias. The layout is divided into several sections by vertical and horizontal lines, with a large central area and a smaller area on the left. The diagram is rendered in a light blue color on a white background.